tails and tips

Satisfy your pet's hankerin' for table scraps this holiday season with a new toy to chew on! Rubber Neckers™ from Fat Cat Inc. are made of heavy duty canvas and chewrific rubber that make this toy outrageously fun and seriously strong! What a combo! Grab on to the toy's rubber neck to play tug of war with your dog. We've designed Rubber Neckers to be fantastically floppy - just how dogs love 'em! Rubber Neckers are available at retailers nationwide.

Let's not forget about the felines this Thanksgiving! Give 'em a bird of their own to play with like Fat Cat Inc.'s Fabulous Las Vegas ShowGulls. Showcasing the glitz and glamour of the Las Vegas strip, ShowGulls combine feathers and 100 percent organic catnip to keep your pets calling for an encore. Available in bright fluffy colors and designs at retailers nationwide.

Welcome to Paw Print!

Thanksgiving – the time of the year to show thanks for family, friends (furry and otherwise) and FOOD! While you're busy cooking and entertaining, it's important to keep a watchful eye on your pets. Dinner table scraps, houseguests and the general hubbub of the season can sometimes prove too much for dogs and cats to handle, so please keep the following tips in mind when entertaining this holiday season!

Refrain from feeding human food to your pets. The grease in turkey and gravy is too rich for your pet's stomach. To keep your pets from pacing around the dinner table, try feeding them before you serve dinner to eliminate begging. Always avoid giving bones from holiday meals to pets; poultry bones can easily split and be very dangerous if swallowed.

The festive environment of hosting holiday guests can be a lot of fun, but may cause anxiety among some pets. Make sure you create a safe place for your pet to retreat to inside the house while you are hosting guests.

From all of us at Bamboo Pet, we wish you and your pets a safe and happy Thanksgiving!
